

Senior Project Archaeologist

Broadbent & Associates, Inc is an engineering and environmental consulting company founded in 1987. Broadbent serves a range of clients throughout the mid and western United States. Broadbent's cultural resources team currently includes three professional full-time staff in our Reno office and one part-time archaeological technician in our Denver office. The cultural resources department is led by Ms. Margo Memmott out of the Reno, Nevada office. Our cultural resources team is supported by an ArcGIS/Database Specialist and Broadbent's administrative staff.

We are seeking a Senior Project Archaeologist to serve as a Principal Investigator. This is a permanent, full-time, salaried position. Candidates may have a specialty in historical, industrial, or prehistoric archaeology or in architectural history. The successful candidate will be expected to manage cultural resources projects, communicate with clients and government agencies, prepare proposals, manage project budgets, and write compliance reports and other project deliverables. The successful candidate may work from Broadbent's Reno or Las Vegas offices, but will be expected to be part of the overall team.

Benefits:

- Competitive Salary, Vacation, and Paid Time Off
- Opportunity to Earn Additional Paid Time Off
- Bonus Potential
- Medical, Dental, Vision, Life, Health Savings Account
- 401K with Safe Harbor Contribution and Company Match
- Professional Development & Continuing Education Support
- A great work environment!

Minimum Requirements:

- M.A. in Archaeology, Anthropology, Architectural History, or a closely related field
- Qualify as a Principal Investigator Statewide in Nevada and/or California, Colorado, or Utah for BLM ARPA permits and State Antiquities permits
- Training and experience implementing Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act
- At least five years of experience managing clients and projects
- Ability to perform both fieldwork activities and office tasks independently or with a team
- Ability to produce reports, treatment plans, and other written communication deliverables to the standards defined by federal agencies and State Historic Preservation Office guidance
- Safety Program Compliance

Please respond to this post with a Broadbent employment application (see company website), brief cover letter, CV, and references.

Broadbent is an equal opportunity employer. Broadbent does not discriminate in employment on account of race, color, religion, national origin, citizenship status, ancestry, age, sex (including sexual harassment), sexual orientation, gender, gender identity or expression, marital status, physical or mental disability, military status or unfavorable discharge from military service.